Grey is the sky today and so is my heart memories of a friendship that now seems so far, chased dreams of past days...I was really fine!
I have never thought my best friends could ruin all this time

I told you about my jealousy and what makes me feel sad
don't you really understand why I feel so bad?
are you still the girl who, smiling, won the fight against the run-down battery of my broken car?

that's a song to say goodbye, to a girl that I still love as
a friend
I hope she'll understand what I mean...

Everything falls down to the ground
everything i hate: it happened!
now i ran away: it's over!

The cd players is running. That is our song.
It reminds me of a the time gone, where I don't belong.
this is my decision: we won't meet again!
that's the only way in which we can still be friends
Please dont say anything! Please dont say a word!
I want you to run away instead of fighting against the world
I won't to take a step back, I won't look back no more just because I'm scared of how much I felt lost before....

that's a song to say goodbye, to a girl that I still love as
a friend
I hope she'll understand what I mean...

Everything falls down to the ground
everything i hate: it happened!
now i ran away: it's over!

Everything falls down to the ground
I won't meet again the girl I want to be my friend. It's over!
