

Vanilla Sky "Summer Comes"

Visit "Summer Comes" on MotoLyrics.com

Sarah here I stand while the sun is going down
Looking by the window for the stars that made us meet
For you I used to carry the never ending light
But I could be falling at least tonight

My love is the first one and the last one to go
Summer has come but I won't let you know
That I'm here for you once again
So please don't let me drown in my own tears

I used to offer all my dreams and tears
I used to save you from all of your intimate fears
I used to walk alone on the never ending line
I used to share with you the smile that made you feel fine

My love is the first one and the last one to go
Summer has come but I won't let you know
That I'm here for you once again
So please don't let me drown in my own tears
You always ask if I'm feeling alright
Time I gave you said were wasted nights
Don't know how to face this again
I just don't know what I'm feeling

My love is the first one and the last one to go
Summer has come but I won't let you know
That I'm here for you once again
I just don't know what I'm feeling

My love is the first one and the last one to go
Summer has come but I won't let you know
That I'm here for you once again
So please don't let me
So please don't let me
So please don't let me go

Visit Vanilla Sky page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.