When the day is closing in the night is calling me home I've seen some better times but it's late and I'm running cold Spent my day just wanderi'n 'round just tryi'n to ease my mind
now I'm standi'n here years later
I've been drifti'n all my life

If I could turn back time
I'd try to find my shine

Looking back when you're still present you know it's better to just live life through like you should

Memories that's haunting you and some that makes you smile tears combined with laughter and silence after sighs
spent my day just wanderi'n 'round
just tryi'n to ease my mind
now I'm standi'n here years later
I've been drifti'n all my life

If I could turn back time

should

"Some people just wander 'round never knowing why Something I've never understood Life is good to go 'til you die"

If I could turn back time

should
