My visions seems so lost
I am stumbling around in the darkness
Don't know where to go
I have lost my aim in life
Once I had a mission
I never questioned why
But now I am balancing on the edge
Running out of sanity

I need a chance to make miracles
To be whole again

I've found my reason to go on
There is a fire burning in my soul
I am free, from now on and forever you gotta make it your own way, and life will turn out right

Somewhere in my mind
I know that there is an answer
Am I headed right this time will I ever know for sure
From birth I was given a mission
My mind kept me alive
Now I have gone over the edge
I have left the grudge behind

I need a chance to make miracles
To be whole again

I've found my reason to go on
There is a fire burning in my soul
I am free, from now on and forever
you gotta make it your own way, and life will turn out

I've searched through out my mind
I know I've found the answer
But can I know for sure
Or is it just coincidence
From birth I was given this mission

My mind kept me alive
But now I've gone through times
I've buried all the memories

I need a chance to make miracles
To be whole again

I've found my reason to go on
There is a fire burning in my soul
I am free, from now on and forever
you gotta make it your own way, and life will turn out

Life will turn out right
Make it your own way
