"Precious Times"

Visit "Precious Times" on MotoLyrics.com

I never knew that I could break your heart so easily but in a second everything is torn to pieces I used to say that our love would last forever but forever was a long time ago so if this is not worth fighting for then why do you cry so many tears tonight I hear you call my name behind me but I think I will better leave and walk away we will always have those precious times - they are forever

They are like pictures in my mind - of our precious times

There are a million ways of dying but there are only a few worth trying Please do not blame me if I live another day If I only find a reason I will stay

so if this is not worth fighting for
I hear you call my name behind me
but I think I will better leave and walk away

forever
They are like pictures in my mind - of our precious
times
