I don't know this feeling inside of me
This is something new
And it makes me feel good

How can I explain what it's done to me?
Feel that I could fly
And I'm sure that I could
Life still then was then a faded photograph
I thought I was happy till you made me laugh
Then you made me feel
That all my life I'd been
Living like a hermit in a chain

You made me love you
You made me love you

I can never hope to be the same again
I don't really care,
Just as long as there you

Love looks so much better through a lover's eyes
Think they got a different life is going to guide
My whole world has changed
Things are not as plain
I could never manage on my own

You made me love you
You made me love you

You made me love you
You made me love you
