

Mitchell Hunter

"If It Ever Was"

Visit "If It Ever Was" on MotoLyrics.com

nothing more to say nothing more to do nothing more to keep me from getting to you

nothing more to fake no one left to blame nothing left for you to say to make me make me make me stay when you need me to leave when you want me to speak only when you're not listening breath only when you do die when i'm not with you

is that how you picture us living?
that's not love
just your way of telling me my love is not enough i wonder if it ever was someone's got to say what is it you need?

what do you expect from yourself and then take from me?

i'm not one to blame but something has to change i've given all of my love to you... and there's none left for me and yet you still ask me to...

stay when you need me to
leave when you want me to
speak only when you're not listening
breath only when you do
die when i'm not with you
is that how you picture us living?
that's not love
just your way of telling me my love is not enough
i wonder if it ever was

i wonder how wonder why wonder when we got here i wonder how wonder why wonder when we got HERE.....

with all the things you want with all the things you need have you ever stopped to think what you're asking, asking of me with everything i am with everything i could be i gave it all so you so you could have me have me... to

stay when you need me to
leave when you want me to
speak only when you're not listening
breath only when you do
die when i'm not with you
is that how you picture us living?

don't tell me to...

stay when you need me to
leave when you want me to
speak only when you're not listening
breath only when you do
die when i'm not with you cause that is not what i call living
that's not love
just your way of telling me my love is not enough
i wonder if it ever was

Visit Mitchell Hunter page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.