i never ever felt this close to the edge before i never ever thought i could close these doors i always thought i'd be hanging on waiting for something more

i've always been dissolved never put back together again i've always felt i was on the outside looking in it always feels easier to be angry or at least it did then i now know that we're all temporary i now know that this could all end momentarily but i know being swallowed never means the end cause at the end there is a new beginning this is my new beginning

i never ever thought one could feel served and still serve a purpose i never ever thought i could be hurt and then become weightless i never ever wanted anything but to feel as if i could create this i've never ever wanted to be more than myself but i can't help feeling as if i've become somebody else so stubborn i never believed that i could be heard with a shut mouth

i now know that we're all temporary
i now know that this could all end momentarily
cause at the end there is a new beginning and i know it seems so far away but trust me now it's worth the wait i never ever thought my old self could be consumed and now thats it's gone i'm feeling less confused and now i have more to lose

i now know that we're all temporary

this is my new beginning this is our new beginning
