i've been deluded
being on top is not for me sinking 20
with my mind being completely free you've been so helpful of bringing my confidence level down but it's helped me somehow yes it's helped me somehow

i've been searching for everything i've been dreaming of anything but i've fallen down
and i like the way it feels
i like when people say
that's just not like me
cause do they really know me
and what it's like to be if we're equal than why does it feel like i have ten thousand eyes on me all the time

you surround yourself you take pride even in others pain then you say i do the same well that is not me

what do you think?

what do you feel?
(when you're being trampled upon) what do you do?
why do you try?
(when you're only tagging along) other than to slide away

(without the time to see myself and all that i've been)
(to pass the time as i worry if this pedestal might break)
but i've fallen down
undriven...
