i wonder why i'm so afraid, i'm so afraid of everything i wonder why i'm so ashamed, i'm so ashamed did they really have to ask if i was the real thing? did they really have to laugh at me?

and i notice
somethings will never be clear and i know this but i'm still waiting in fear

all i want is something to make me feel real break down the walls and melt away this flesh i can't feel raise the bar and open these doors that lock me inside
me room
with nothing else to do but wait for you i wonder why i'm not the same, i'm not the same as the rest of them i wonder why i go insane, wish i was seen like the rest of them did they really have to go and push me down? i wonder why i'm yet to hit ground

and i notice
domethings will never be clear
and i know this

with nothing else to do but wait for you sometimes i ask myself if i will ever be cured will i open up and step out in the world?

with nothing else to do but wait for you

i'll be waiting for you i'll be waiting
