English translation

In the break in the clouds, down from the diluted sky,
In the water drops that fall, a single shard of heaven
Falls with them.The surface of the water sways, drawing out ripple circles.
At the bottom of the water, I turn back the winder key
On my dream that reflects.As I doze off, I see a flower.
Rotting away, it stays silent
Above the street.The world submerges, and the sounds of instruments mature.
A crowd of white flowers bury the rest away,
Just embracing everything.The flower continues to sleep
Deeply at the depths of the blue night
Until the day it finally awakens.
Returning a breath, it quietly becomes excited,

Pulling apart the long sighs of the water.
A dream of a water lily. It falls in the brief time it awakens.
Riding on the night wind, it sneaks into
The sleep that connects people, and blooms. Someday, it will come down and sing a song of demise.
Blown shut by its petals,
It sleeps at the bottom of the water. Lalala.....
