This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

She burned a hole where the night was cold
I stood on a hilltop ready for take off
That night

She's the strangest stranger here in our ghost town
She's the one who knows how to turn me upside down
Alright

And I know

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

We hear the thunder running down the street
Heading for the rooftop strangers would meet
That night

Then a danger, danger in her delicate eyes
Took me for a love drive under black skies
Alright

And I know

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

Lalalala tonight, high above city lights
Lalala we don't care, we just fall through the air

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

This is the world
This is the right world for me and my honey

Here we can be stunning
