He was a farmer in a land that was dry
He had been working every day in his life
A family with fourteen kids to feed
With no water to plant even a seed
No one, no one really cares
About this family

High, high and dry

Global warming is a problem for the rich
But the poor has always lived like this
Is he to blame when river's running dry
Is he to die so we can live a lie?

High, high and dry

It used to be gold now they're drilling for the oil
The multinationals are making it their soil
The Multinationals are here!
When he is looking at another dying son
Who's to tell him that he doesn't need a gun
Are you gonna tell him?
No one, no one gives a damn
About this family

High, high and dry
