Tonight, I'm sleeping with the Cynics again

I was going to a party tonight
All the people were so goddam happy
It was chit-chat, funny jokes, the same old shit
I couldn't take it anymore
I was talking to a girl about this and that
She was showing me the latest steps on the dancefloor
She wanted to take me home
But I was bored like a lizard in a tin

Tonight, I'm sleeping with the Cynics again

I had to listen to this guy all night
He was bragging 'bout his brand new something
It was cars and stocks and money talks
But the clock was ticking away

Tonight, I'm sleeping with the Cynics again
