If you drive that fast, you're bound to get hurt, you can't not get hurt, and the drugs don't last enough time, to make things all right, you were my bright lights, but there's no lights tonight. And I lost my confidence, I tried to get it back, I tried my best to be, the thing you want but drugs don't, make me feel great, you got so selfish and stayed up too late, for me. Do the things you take make any difference? Do the things I say make any difference? Have I lost your heart now? Have I lost your heart now? Am I too much in love? A fire, in me, for you
