"On Your Way"

Once I walked a thousand miles through the sun and rain found someone Who made me smile, took away my pain we arranged to meet again in a Southern town when I called her mother up she was not around Looking out across the sky you can see the same as I Giving all your fears away you will cease to stumble on your way
Once I had a silver girl all my Hearts desire living in a different world, who put out the Fire looking out across the sky you can see the same as I Giving all your fears away you will cease to stumble on
your way
Once there was a younger man Standing in my shoes had a guitar in his hand in his heart the Blues tried to heal the wound inside did some heavy drinkin
Had to swallow all his pride knew the ship was sinkin
