All the king's horses and all the king's men
They couldn't put my broken heart back together again
I woke up this morning, and this is what I found
You had gone and left me
And you never even made a farewell sound

All the king's horses and all the king's men
They couldn't put my broken heart back together again
I asked your friends about you, and this is what they said
'She can live without you, she's gonna find a man With money instead.'

All the king's horses and all the king's men
They couldn't put my broken heart back together again Someday, you will know the meaning of a love that's true
But when you find out, I won't be around to share it with you

All the kings' horses and all the king's men (hey, yeah yeah)
They couldn't put my broken heart back together again
(no, no, no)
All the king's horses and all the king's men (hey, yeah
yeah)
They couldn't put my broken heart back together again
