Now that the party's over
Now that the noise is through
Now that the room is empty
There's only me and you

I think that I might just fall in love
With you, with you

There were so many people
Trying to talk to you
Telling you how they need you
Trying to get to you

I think that I might just fall in love
With you, with you

Thoughts ring through my head
All the things that you said
Didn't seem to matter early on
But now that the people have gone

I think that I might just fall in love
With you, with you

Now that you know how I feel
Everything's up to you
Now that the party's over
Tell me what I should do

I think that I might just fall in love
With you, with you
With you, with you...
