[Verse 1]

What would happen if today was your last
Would you wake up early get blazed in the park
Would you get off your face in a bar
Would you make love sniffin cocaine in a spa
Would you say sorry for mistakes in your past Would you try and forgive her for breaking your heart Would you get what you came to ask before you're gone
write a letter or record a song
Would you scuba dive, sky dive, hire a Ferrari Pent house party, set fire to your money Would you rob the bank, house the homeless donate your organs to lousy smokers Would you focus on your close fam cook up a feast of cray fish and spit roast lamb Would you go back home, walk the streets score some E's
Get off your guts and talk to police Would you dance to your favourite track if it was played full blast on a train that's packed Would you hijack a plane and crash it into parliament for the freedom to protest an argument Would you wish you could rewind and start again
Stop playin the harlequin

[Chorus]

Wake up tomorrow morning
See the sun shine bright
Wake up tomorrow morning
See the sun shine bright

[Verse 2]

Would you surf the crowd at a James Brown concert sing everyword and drink till you vomit Would you wanna meet the Queen or Dalai Lama Would you wanna meet George Bush or Osama Would you wanna meet Ja Rule or Bambaataa It's what you've done not where you're at or from brother
Are you chained to a desk are you brave with your heart

are you diggin in the trench in the rain and the mud I got something that I came ask, what would happen if today was your last Are you sittin on the bench, are you makin your mark afraid of the future and ashamed of the past I got something that I came ask
What would happen if today was your last?

[Chorus]

[Verse 3]

Would you try a threesome in the back of a Commodore with a box of Cadbury chocolate body sauce Would you want it all, tour the Greek Islands safari through the Congo to see lions Would you know the mystery of the Amazon Would you know the history of the land you're on?
Would you know the industry's a paragon for slimy mother fuckers like Alan Bond Would you save earth or finish a days work it's too late, your spirit's a caged bird Would you make it worth your while go tonight, take a bus, steal a posty's motorbike Would you globalise or let everybody know we're all victims of economic growth Would you make a mends, savour every second take revenge on your boss with a heavy weapon Would you let 'em know your darkest secret Reveal all in your partners grieving Would you escape from a Divvy van Fuck like you're being taped on mini cam
What would happen if today was your last?
That's what I came to ask

[Chorus]
