Oh my babe
Oh my love
Ooooh
Early was the morn, flowers filled with dew
I became somebody through loving you
Softly as a child, born in natural rain
I predict the seasons to go unchanged

Sometimes in life you run across a love unknown
Without a reason it seems like you belong
Hold on dear life
Don't go off running from what's due
I became somebody through loving you

Warm was the sun
That covered my body so
Reminding me of you as I'd first known
Those were the days
The days that changed my life
That made me knew
I became somebody through loving you

Sometimes in life you run across a love unknown
Without a reason it feels like you belong
Hold on dear life
Don't go off running from what's due
I became somebody through loving you

As the sun shines down on me
I know with you in love is where I want to be
Oh sometimes I go on through life thinking
That love is something that's not meant for me
Woah, somebody, somebody

Hold on dear life
Don't go off running from what's due
I became somebody through loving you
I became somebody through loving you
I became somebody through loving you
ooh
