she never thought that she would get her second chance running so far from all shes everknown and then she lost all meaning where did her dreams go? and still she knew that there was something more don't be scared, theres someone there say these words, you need to hear don't let anybody tell you who you are (who you are) its okay to let go your that shooting star (shooting star) remember all you wish for believe it will be true you will never find yourself anywhere else find yourself in you sometimes people tell you be like me to fit in untill you know your identity is not in them

believe it will be true
you'll find yourself in you why should i measure the world with someone elses's design oh i won't let this fly by look over hear just by the real me now its your turn to see
