Here you are on the back of my mind again
Don't guess it's gonna get any better
Is your memory ever gonna end
Or does it go on forever?
I was the one when you left town
Said I'd get along somehow
Didn't take long to find out
That I was wrong
Look at me now
Nothing but a whole lot of time on my hands
Look at me now
Thought I wouldn't need you, now I understand
You said I was never gonna learn
Look at me now
I was so busy looking out for myself
I know I must have took you for granted
Didn't want to make room for someone else
Didn't know love when I had it
You were the one who set me free
But you can lay the blame on me
Come my way and you'll see
I have changed
Look at me now
Nothing but a whole lot of time on my hands
Look at me now
Thought I wouldn't need you, now I understand
You said I was never gonna learn
Just look at me now
Calling your name in the quiet of the night
Seeing your face every time I close my eyes
It's always the same, I keep hoping that you might
Look at me now
Standing here holding my heart in my hands
Look at me now
Wishing I told you we could still start again
What I'd give if you'd turn
An' look at me now
Here you are on the back of my mind again
