Each one had a father
A name and a mother

Each one had a dream
A prayer on their breath
The world's gone black

On the streets of Manhattan
A dusty wind blows
Letters and wishes
A girl with a rose

On the streets of Baghdad
A dusty wind blows
Letters and wishes
A girl with a rose

Each one had a father
A name and a mother

Each one had a dream
A prayer on their breath
The world's gone black

Fire and vengeance
In the New York sky above
Stole my angel
Stole my true love

Fire and vengeance
In the Baghdad sky above
Stole his angel
Stole his true love

Each one had a father

A name and a mother

Each one had a dream
A prayer on their breath
The world's gone black

I stand out on my front porch
I look up at the sky
Will my world go black
In the blink of an eye?

He stands out in the desert
He looks up at the sky
Will his world go black
In the blink of an eye?

Each one had a father

Each one had a dream

Each one had a wish
Each one had a home
Each one had a name
A name and a rose
