"Under the Rose"

Visit "Under the Rose" on MotoLyrics.com

I dream of the winter in my heart turning to stone
While the ice gives way under my feet
And so I drown with the sun

I've been been burning in water and drowning in flame
To prove you wrong and scare you away
I have never minded the one back home
Your heart under the rose

I open my eyes with a sigh of relief
As the warmth of summer sunlight dances around me
That's you with the leaves in your hands

I've been been burning in water and drowning in flame
To prove you wrong and scare you away
I have never minded the one back home
Your heart under the rose
