There's no music, no confetti,
Crowds don't cheer it, bells don't ring,
But you'll know it, I can guarantee,
When the right one comes along.

What their thinking, What your feeling,
You no longer have to guess,
All those questions, Finally put to rest,
When the right one comes along.

Every single broken heart,
Will lead you to the truth,
You think you know what your looking for,
Till what your looking for finds you.

In a cold world, Its a warm place,
Were you know that your supposed to be,
A million moments, For the sweet release,
When the right one comes along.

Every single broken heart,
Will lead you to the truth,
You think you know what your looking for,
Till what your looking for finds you.

Its so easy, nothing to it,
Though you may not leave me know,
Oh, but i promise, Honey you'll find out,
When the right one comes along.

All that changes, is only everything,
When the right one comes along.
