My brother,
If you could cast a little light on someone
It's not too soon,
You took me half way round the world,
I'm running out of time and reasons.
My true friend,
If you could tell me what it is that keeps you
From coming down,
You left me way up in the clouds,
The higher you fly
The less I see you.

So far
'Cross a wild and windy sea,
So far
That our voices are
Divided by an ocean
An ocean.

My brother,
If you could take a little time to slow down
It's more your style,
It takes a lifetime to decide
I'm running out of time and reasons,
I'm running out.

So far
'Cross a wild and windy sea,
So far
That our voices are Divided by an ocean
An ocean.
