I'll bury my face in my hands
I'm sifting through thoughts that I have
And nothing's making sense

I called it off, called it quits and this is the melody I'm stuck with
And nothing's making sense

If you think I forgot what went wrong
Well you better think that through
Cause I'm done writing love songs for you

I turn off my heart, from my mouth
I'm watching your car leave my house and I've seen that look before (you're begging please say something) but myself can't take no more
Do you remember what we were?

I think you forgot what went wrong
Well you better think that through
Cause I'm done writing love songs for you, you, you

Because you once said we'd never fall apart
If I remember it you swore a brand new start
As we laid on that bed New Jersey raining hearts we would talk through the movie and our favorite part so tell me how did it get this far?

I think I forgot what went wrong
Well you better think that through
Cause I'm done writing love songs for you, you, you

If you think i forgot what went wrong
Well you better think that through
Cause i'm done writing love songs for you
(I won't write it for you)

If you think i forgot what went wrong
Well you better think that through
Cause I'm done writing love songs for you
