So I've stayed up for the past few nights
And over time I have realized
That after all of the time that I gave and I gave
It never kept you awake
But it pushed me to stay right here
And wait around for you
Just wait right here
I'll be back for you
And I have lost my chance
To give this my best

You're not mine and I know it
But that night I couldn't hold it in
Because I feel just right
When you're standing next to me

I've got these perfect pictures in my head of possibility
It was the words you whispered then
They led me to believe
You led me to believe

You're not mine and I know it
But that night I couldn't hold it in
Because I feel just right
When you're standing next to me

And I've thought about this night and day
And oh, I wish that you could stay with me
And hide inside the summer heat

And I could get better
And I could give more
And I can be better than you've had before

You're not mine and I know it
But that night I couldn't hold it in
Because I feel just right
When you're standing next to me
When you're standing next to me

I've thought about this night and day

And oh, I wish that you could stay with me
And hide inside the summer heat

Green leaves to gold
(I'll wait inside the summer heat)
And autumn blows cold air outside of your window
(I'll wait inside the summer heat)
