Bella close your eyes and there'll be a morning sun
though the black sky
won't let you believe in one you'll find your way back a better way out of here though you can't see it now the world will disappear for you you beautiful dreamer

(chorus)
asleep at the wheel with the world flying by you soft, in your sleep, with se-crets your hiding behind in the back of your mind and your mothers arms they never could hold you down with poison in her smile and sugar in your mouth

now all of the avenues they pile up one by one falling like dominos into the setting sun for you

they show in your eyes

So Bella close your eyes
