

Mourning Maxwell

"Let That Tussin Soak In Boy"

Visit "Let That Tussin Soak In Boy" on MotoLyrics.com

This is where the soil meets the sky
Like a quest without conclusion
I've buried this so many times
But I just can't seem to lose it
The last one I opened up like this to
Was a coroner and the outcome was grim
He said boy you better stop chasing fables
Just look at where you've landed
They can't take what you've been//

Won't you since for me while there's still time
If everybody gets atleast one chance
I hope their saving mine
Cause right now I'm terrified//

Answered with scornful replies as if you've never been persuasive
Still there's always somebody dying to be a martyr
And I've got the scars to prove it
So redemption is it close enough to love
Well there are only sinners here
So for what its worth
You're not alone//

So we'll play like forever is tonight
Cause once you've spent enough time
With crooked men sooner than later
Your souls gonna bend.

Visit Mourning Maxwell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.