"Too Good To Be True"

You were all she ever wanted, that was once upon a time

She was all you every needed, that's what makes it such a crime

How you took her heart for granted, how you threw her love away

Now you still don't understand it, if you did, you'd never say...

Chorus:

It was too good to be true...

What did you expect a girl as good as her to do?

What do you think would make that woman go and find somebody new?

She's not too good to be true..

She's just too good to be true to you.

Just because she never said so, doesn't mean she didn't see

Everytime you stole an apple off somebody else's tree

Late last night that lipstick letter she left on the bedroom door

Said "You don't get it, and you ain't gonna get it anymore!"

Repeat chorus twice
