alicia we've been through a lot but for you love is all i've got.
i thank you for the many things you taught me, showed me, everything. i hope that maybe someday you get marriage, hardcore shows, and babies. somebody soon i'm sure that your body will finally stop hurting. and after both our hearts have healed and everything is fine then we'll be back to how we used to be. the best of friends, i guarantee but i don't know just how to cope. i've never been through this before i'll wait. and wait. and wait and see just what the future holds for me. this was just a bottle rocket romance. gorgeously it peaked then instantly it vanished. grateful I am to have shared this spark with you. i'm taking baby steps as fast as i can. but one look at you and then i'm back to where i began. i never thought that this would be nearly as hard, but then again i never felt a love as genuine as ours. i'll wake up tomorrow completely alone. but what i'll do and who i'll meet have answers that are unknown. i'll make the most out of life. like this was a class. and our assignment was to love each other. both of us passed. this was just a bottle rocket romance. gorgeously it peaked then instantly it vanished. grateful I am to have shared this spark with you. winter nights soon will be summer skate sessions. everyone will be out having fun. you and me, we'll start a posi hardcore band. bring the mosh to all of those in need. this was just a bottle rocket romance. gorgeously it peaked then instantly it vanished. this was just a bottle rocket romance. gorgeously it peaked then instantly it vanished. grateful I am to have shared this spark with you.
