don't stop fighting for the ones that you love. life's too short to take a break. don't stop caring for the ones that you fought. life's too short to hold a grudge. take a step down. remove your crown. you're no longer ordering everybody around. we stepped up can't you see. you're not the boss of me. TM's holdin' it down settin' everybody free. we can do what we want. we can do what we please. and we wanna have a party every night of the week. we won't lock you up. you can chill with us. i mean what kinda world would this be without trust? don't stop fighting for the ones that you love. life's too short to take a break. don't stop caring for the ones that you fought. life's too short to hold a grudge. soon all shackles will have been shattered. past foe. each one will now be a friend. seasons changing. so are we. each person that you know eventually passes on. so don't waste time. when asked to befriend please do not decline. too much hate already here. let's all rise up. make it disappear. work together. everyone. each obstacle we face we'll overcome. soon all shackles will have been shattered. past foe. each one will now be a friend. now let's go get ready. we've got our work cut out for us. ladies and gentlemen we're in for a ride. alright. 1,2,3,4!
