High on the tower

I freak on heights

With a tear in every corner of my eyes

Desert storm is over now

Nothing to fear

With the sailor near...

High on the tower

I have seen second sights

To discover my saviour nearby

For the sun won't burn my head

As I walk around my tower

For the wind would blow the lashes of my eyes instead

Here we come

Here we try

Here we settle down for ages

For the Man Who Comes

To Save Our All Guts

But the Leppars lay ahead

Winning team by lengthless shoulders

Search the morning ground

Reach for the life bread

As I search for corners
Tired of the wide
I've been hissing at the angels
Who grab viciously at my eyes
Suzy sits upon her window
With her flaming thoughts and greedy thighs
The Sailor wore a mark in the right eye
Here we come
Here we try
Here we've settled down for ages
For the Man To Come To Save Our All Guts
See the level rises ahead
Sailor sits upon its shoulder
Soon enough he'll reach out for the life braid
(I've grown for ages)
Dear Sailor climb the braid
My hair will not break
It will just ache a little while
But it will not break
Dear Sailor Saviour climb the stairs
My heart will not break
(it will just ache a little while
