strike me down

give me everything you've got

strike me down

i'll be everything i'm not count the questions on one hand you don't ask me what i planned

strike me down

should have asked me what went wrong

strike me down

should have stayed away too long

strike me down

give it everything you've got chance me now i'll be everything i'm not hope's the child of what luck brings points the faith in higher things ask me now fire at everything at once

strike me down

take it anyway you want

better left it all unknown

strike me down

should have left it all alone wash the questions off my hands i'm the fate in no-one plans

strike me down
