Once upon a time
In a world far from perfect
Lay a lonesome soul
On an ocean's surface
A place where one
Thought they could run
Where they were safe
Where they were loved

Chorus
Feeling pitied before them all
Wishing your world could end
Hoping, praying they don't notice
Lonesome in disguise

The anger rises boiling more
Feeling frustration can't let go
Anger rages hear your scream
Flail your fist into a fight
A calm relief a pain shot deep
A being heard scared to death
Notice white you think you're dead
Until the pain arises

Chorus
Taken home to be alone
Once again the pain again
Fury continues Rage exceeds
Wrath of all until it bleeds

Chorus Out
