hey charlie nothing comes to rest on the chests of those always running and in this life i have been blessed with starcrossed maps that kept me moving but charles the empty miles press with the weight i thought i was avoiding and how can i confess when i know not what i am doing?

release the load
release and load again
release the load and then hey charlies when's it gonna click? i've been waiting all my life for this i'm tired of living from the wrist and leaving all decision to coincidence
