our lives are measured by the weekends said a weatherman to an anchor friend feels like more if it feels like nothing and i am predicting rain again i wore my tread out on your highway a rusted care parked in your driveway but neck to back the fit's amazing

was this a song?
or is this a painting?

the swans are fainting
even with the spotlights on them
should we call the doctor in?

in the bars and the ticket lines black strawberries looked so fine but when the fruit was pressed to wine we could not be satisfied swans are fainting

even with the spotlights on them
