Alex: (frustrated) Time and time again, the words are messy and hard to read...

PC: You Should take your time.

Alex: (reluctant) I'll give it a rest, but I've got plenty of pages left.

Their cold unfeeling pupils are staring back at me

Blink as they've been programmed on and off their pixels flash

The world empire strengthens as voltage powers all

We shall fall as the world goes on the internet.

PC: Leave it up to me and I'll see everything comes out well. You should save your file.

Alex: I'll be finished soon, but if the system crashes all is ruined.

The hard drive has an ego, the circuit boards have won

Digits to the digital and let them decide now

The world empire strengthens as voltage powers all

We shall fall as the world goes on the internet

Alex: (even more frustrated) Time and time again the words are messy and hard to read.

PC: You should save your file.

Alex: I'll be finished soon, but when the system crashes all is ruined.

Their cold unfeeling pupils are staring back at me

Blink as they've been programmed on and off their
pixels flash

The world empire strengthens as voltage powers all

We shall fall as the world goes on the internet
