Hey I am sure to fall this time around and I could look you in the eye but you never show your face something sticky in your ears turned to logic and what you reiterate is meaningless to me Save yourself because your dying slowly say goodnight before you ever say goodbye tore the buttons off your coat to keep the wind out banged your head against the sky, to touch the ground beneath held a candle to the sun to drown the twilight but when you bruise you never bleed no you never cryout strong carry on carry me home serve your flesh circuits unkown stitches sewn to leave me alone cran your neck till I crawl does it make you sick?
The smell of daddy's sweat the taste of daddy's spit Crawl blood in blood out
