I spend my days being lazy That's if you're outside lookin' in Don't you come around here to try and save me Cause you'd never know where to begin Whoever said "Love is a game" man they sure weren't too far off the mark It starts between a flicker and a flame but it's still just a shot in the dark I see your face froze in confusion man that look ain't nothin' new to me You walk around in an illusion seein' only what you want to see Cause you, you knew all the answers and I believed them to be true
The music died, but I kept on dancin'
cause baby it was you...
Someone said, "The world is just a stage" and everybody's got to play their part But man, my script was missing a page but I believed I could play it all by heart

Cause me, I knew all the answers
and I believed the mto be true
The music died, but I kept on dancin'
cause baby it was you Now I see my reflection in the window a few more lines but hey that's me I lose my direction when the wind blows but I still know where I gotta be I still know where I gotta be But you, you knew all the answers
and I believed them to be true
thee music died, but like a fool I kept on dancin'
cause baby it was you
