I saw a color and I chased it in the sky
A piece of yesterday has caught me in the eye
I miss my Shena, so sweet and then she died
I want the tears to roll, I try and try and try

I see you're naked here as if it was before
Your eyes in silhouette con me to the floor
Your body beckons me, the haunted matador
Your image follows though you're gone forever more

Landscape, we wait
It's our life, our fate
And I know we'll change
The color decays
And I swear you're here
In our voice, our tears
I know we'll change
The color decays

And I will search inside
Try to find the face I know
Memories often hide
They wait in time to show

Landscape, we wait
It's our life, our fate
And I know we'll change
The color decays
And I swear you're here
In our voice, our tears
I know we'll change
The color decays
And I swear it moves
This world and these rules
I know we'll change
The color decays

I see and open road where life is slow and free
And into a distant hope we'll drive eternally
