It's not running away
It's called seizing the day
What you can't have you want What you do have you don't Yes you get what you find
We can read your mind
When it comes to romance you always give it a chance you didn't have money you didn't need friends all of your means were justified by the ends you were stuck in a rut oblivion bound tried to take a short cut it was the longest way round to make a connection can be hard if you try you start thinking too much and it passes by you decide what you want but you don't look around try and take a short cut and it's the longest way round when you're cracking the nut with your head and the ground you try and take a short cut it's the longest way round when the path to her heart is quite easily found better stand back and wait or go the longest way round if you think that you're losing better not make a sound there's no way to win just the longest way round if you want to go up you're going to have to come down gravity helps you on the longest way round
