

Narrow, The "Push Up The Level"

Every time there's a wall I can feel it coming on.
Not like a dove gently surfing the air come on.
I cant believe can't control all the power over,
over the lives on the creatures the word is spoken.
But then you say you'll believe when you see it all.
Well here I am only inches from your eyeballs.
Once again blown away by the North Star,
Vanity's glare take the wheel of your crash car.

They say it's all over now
Let me educate you now, yeah..

Feel now. Push up the level!
Feel it now. Push up the level!

Push up the level the heavens will fight for me!

Lately I'm beginning to understand why my eyes must never see what we lack.
